

School of Business and Management

Graduate outcomes survey results 2022/23 (reported June 2025)

You will have excellent career prospects with a degree from the School of Business and Management at Queen Mary.

Our graduates go onto work in a variety of roles with 85% of graduates in employment or undertaking further study 15 months after graduation*, of which, 62% of graduates are in a highly skilled job. The average starting salary for our graduates is £30,000*.

Based on 219 responses from graduates in the 2022/3 cohort*

Graduate Voice Data

My activity is meaningful	82% of respondents agree or strongly agree with this statement
My activity is on track	70% of respondents agree or strongly agree with this statement
I am using the skills learned	49% of respondents agree or strongly agree with this statement

The sectors our students may go on to work in:

Marketing, Advertising & PR	HR & Training	Accountancy, Banking & Finance
IT & Internet	Legal sector	Teaching
Business & Consulting	Property & Construction

Examples of companies that have employed our 2021/22 Graduates:

Barclays Bank Plc	PWC	Deloitte
Ernst & Young	Grant Thornton LLP	KPMG
Jones Lang Lasalle	J P Morgan Chase and Co	NatWest
Sky	Societe Generale	Tower Hamlets Council

Our Graduates go on to work in a range of job titles, including:

Audit associate	Assistant Financial Analyst	Commercial Banking Graduate
Finance Graduate	HR Administrator	Logistics Officer
Policy Intern	Relationship Management Coordinator	- Marketing Executive