

Nuffield Research Placements

Inspire the next generation - become a student supervisor

We are looking for PhD and Post Doc students who can inspire a 17-year-old by supervising a two-week research project in STEM (science, technology, engineering or maths) and Social Science.

Why should you get involved?

- Gain an enthusiastic and talented extra pair of hands to move forward with your own research.
- Develop your teaching and coaching skills.
- Gain experience of being a mentor / manager. Improve your communication skills.
- Demonstrate the impact of your research outside your department.
- Engage others in your research.
- Improve your CV.

“I would strongly recommend the Nuffield programme to other academics - it helps bring the excitement of research to a new generation of highly-talented students”

Interested? Contact: Sally Moore - Nuffield Research Placements Manager

Email: s.moore@stempointeast.org.uk

More information is also available on the website, including case studies:

<https://www.stem.org.uk/nuffield-research-placements#for-employers>